

AUSTRIA WILL HOLD DECIDING POWER IN BALKAN SITUATION

MAY PREVENT ALLIES FROM DIVIDING UP THE CONQUERED TERRITORY AMONG THEMSELVES.

FIGHTING IS RESUMED

Meanwhile Majority of Powers Refuse to Take Any Hand in Asking for Peace at Request of Turkish Government.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 5.—Although all the powers have not yet replied to Turkey's appeal for mediation it is known that it has now received a very warm reception.

As to the future of the Balkans a very sharp line divides Germany, Austria Hungary and Italy, from France, Russia and Great Britain. Public opinion in England, France and Russia argues that the allies should have the territory which they have conquered.

Austria-Hungary which after all is the most directly interested in the great powers being the nearest neighborhood to the Balkan states, will it be believed not sit quietly by and see the Balkan league establish itself across her path to the Aegean sea, in which the Greek government had extended the blockade of the coast of the Epirus far as Santa Quaranta, and had raised the blockade of Castro on the island of Lemnos.

Send Reinforcements. Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 5.—Reinforcements continue to proceed to the frontier from Bulgaria. Some Serbian troops passed through here yesterday from Adrianople and today eight battalions of volunteers including Macedonians and Russians en route for the front passed through. Reports still continue to come from Serbia Todoru of the fighting but people here are kept in entire ignorance of the happenings around Adrianople and the outcome of the fight between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies.

Important Conference. Nothing has been published here for the past three days. An important ministerial conference was held this morning, the result of which has not been made public.

The hospitals at Sofia, Thilopol and other centers are crowded with wounded men. Thirty war correspondents have announced their intention of leaving Bulgaria for their respective countries.

Fighting Resumed. London, Nov. 5.—It was officially announced in Constantinople today that fighting has begun between the Bulgarians and Turks at the Tchatalja forts, according to a special dispatch from that city. The result of the fighting is not stated.

The water supply of Constantinople was cut off today by a large Bulgarian force which occupied Derkas at the end of the line of Tchatalja, from which point starts the aqueduct supplying the Turkish capital, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

The Bulgarian troops have occupied the region between Tchatalja and Tchatalja completely surround-

SUFFRAGE QUESTION ENLIVEN ELECTION

LADIES AT POLLING PLACES URGE VOTERS TO REMEMBER THE PINK BALLOT.

MANY TICKETS SPLIT

Interest is Shown By Good Sized Vote That is Reported Out All Over the City.

Interest in today's election in Janesville was enlivened by women at the various polling places urging voters to remember the pink ballot which is to decide their fate. They kept within the law, however, and were stationed over a hundred feet from each polling place, an auto with a huge yellow streamer, "Votes for Women" on its side being at a convenient point.

Several persons, evidently anti-suffragists, complained to Chief of Police Appleby of their presence at polling places, but were informed they had a legal right to be where they were. One man, however, was not satisfied with the decision of the chief and intimidated he would consult an attorney about the matter. However, nothing was done as far as could be learned about the matter.

The vote was a trifle behind the figures four years ago in the various polling precincts at one today, in the first ward it was 206, the second ward showed 212, the third ward

A QUIET ELECTION THROUGHOUT STATE; VOTE FAIRLY HEAVY

Fair Weather Generally Prevails But Excitement is Not Noted at Any of Larger Cities.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—Reports from throughout Wisconsin indicated the election is proceeding quietly and without any undue excitement. Identical weather prevailed in every portion of the state. In Milwaukee and other large cities women are stationed at convenient distances from polling places and as the voters appear each one is solicited to vote for the equal suffrage amendment. Up to 10 a.m. the votes in Milwaukee were registered at the rate of about one per minute.

Milwaukee Vote Heavy. Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—Voting in Milwaukee began with a rush today at six a.m. The labor vote was heavy. Interest in this county is keen because of the fusion of the county and congressional tickets, also between the gubernatorial nominees with McGovern republican and Karel democrat. The weather was cool and sky clear.

Oshkosh Situation. Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 5.—The chief interest here in city and country centers between Roosevelt and Taft. Davidson for the first time in sixteen years is having a close run for Congress, his opponent being M. K. Reilly of Pon Du Lac, democrat. Karel is not receiving much support because of his income tax views. The weather is fine.

SAFE BLOWERS MADE ESCAPE FROM CELLS

Five Men Held in Cells Under Detective Bureau Headquarters in Chicago Escaped Early Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Five alleged safe blowers escaped early today from cells under the detective bureau at police headquarters. The noise of their jail breaking was unheard owing to the hiss of steam from an escaping radiator. Joseph Durand, the leader of the gang used a chair rung to break the lock of his cell. Exit from the building was made through a coal hole.

WHERE RESULTS WILL BE QUICKLY LEARNED

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR NATION, STATE AND COUNTY WILL GIVE EXCELLENT SERVICE.

SEE GAZETTE REPORTS

Latest News Possible to be Displayed During Evening on General Results Opposite Gazette Office.

If you want to know how the national election is going tonight, following the votes by states and counties watch the Gazette bulletin screen placed on the Hutchinson and Sons block on East Milwaukee street opposite the Gazette office. The results will be flashed from a powerful lantern in the Gazette office and will be accurate and as correct as is possible to obtain.

A special wire from the Chicago office of the Western Union Telegraph company to the Gazette office has been strung and a competent operator will receive the results as fast as obtained. They will be handled in the Gazette's office so as to give accurate information and tabulated so that later results can be shown.

Aside from the telegraph service the Gazette has arranged with the Associated Press to send state results from its Milwaukee office as fast as possible and at every voting place in Rock county a Gazette representative will be on hand to copy the final count and telephone at once to the office. This will give a good idea of how the election is going in Rock county and Wisconsin, at least by midnight, although the vote in Janesville and Beloit will be exceptionally slow in coming in owing to the counting of the various ballots.

In order to accommodate those who do not care to come down town to watch the returns, the Gazette has arranged the following means for receiving the news by telephone. Call 27 Rock county phone or 77 two rings on the same and the information will be given you. Phone 77 two rings on the Wisconsin phone will also be reserved for the use of the information bureau. The Editorial room phones will not be available for the purpose as they will be in use constantly receiving the reports and can not be answered.

Manager Myers has also arranged for the receipt of returns at the theater during the evening and the production of the "Girl Who Dared" will prove most entertaining between the receipts of the results which will be read from the stage. The Elks, Unique club and other organizations also plan for social sessions this evening with election returns as a feature.

WILSON FEELS RELIEVED THAT CAMPAIGN IS OVER.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Princeton, Nov. 5.—Governor Woodrow Wilson when asked today how he felt, replied, "Like a boy out of school" with a sigh of relief for he admitted that the campaign had been a hard physical strain. His scalp would, he said, in an automobile mishap two days ago did not bother him he said. The governor planned to spend most of the day answering letters. Tonight a small party will be held at the Wilson home to hear the returns by a private telegraph wire. Besides the members of the governor's immediate family, his brother-in-law, Prof. Stockton Axson, two cousins, from North Carolina Capt. G. H. Mc Masters, U. S. A., and James Woodrow, and Joseph R. Wilson, a younger brother of the nominee, will hear the results at the Wilson home. Governor Wilson had planned to go to bed early but the students of Princeton had other ideas on the subject. They intend to have a noisy parade to the governor's house if the trend of the election returns would point his way.

COMPILED REPORT ON FREE DELIVERY

Figures Showing Weight and Number of Mail Delivered by Rural Carriers Being Prepared at Postoffice.

Figures are being compiled at the local postoffice on a report for the postoffice department as to the mail handled by the rural free delivery mail carriers working out of the Janesville office during the month of October. During the past month, all of the rural carriers have been required to keep a record of the amount of mail carried and the figures in the report to the department are being made up from this. Each carrier was required to furnish the number of pieces of mail of the various classes of mail, its weight in pounds and ounces, and the number of pieces of mail collected on their routes, and the weight in pounds and ounces of this matter. The compilation of the report has not been finished yet.

PRESIDENTIAL VOTE IS REPORTED HEAVY ALL OVER COUNTRY

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT BRINGS OUT THROGS OF VOTERS ESPECIALLY IN EAST AND MIDDLE WEST.

WEATHER IS FAVORABLE

Men Flock to Polls Before They Open In Many States and Streams Continue Throughout the Day—Skies Are Clear.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The three cornered presidential contest sent to the polls today voters who took an unprecedented interest in the outcome of a campaign which has been waged with unusual bitterness. Midday reports from every quarter indicated a nation wide record breaking vote. In addition to the election of president and vice president and members of congress, 33 states are voting for governor and 36 states for legislature, which will fill vacancies in the United States senate.

New York City, Nov. 5.—A record vote is predicted for New York City and state today. The weather is clear and cool. The total registration figures in the city is more than 700,000 and the vote of well over 650,000 is predicted. A vote of about 1,200,000 is expected in the state outside of New York City. Four years ago the total was 638,999. It is predicted that the returns for presidential and governor will be known by nine this evening.

Heavy Illinois Vote. Chicago, Nov. 5.—Illinois turned out this morning to poll her record vote. Cool clear weather was promised to continue during the day by the official forecast. That the state will total more than one million is expressed by political headquarters and that it will reach 1,260,000 many of the voters predict.

Cloudy in Minnesota. St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Election morning opened cloudy with prospects of inclement weather during the day. The principal interest centers in the presidential election. There are only a few local contests in Minnesota outside of congress, legislative and county tickets. The returns will be late tonight owing to the fact that the polls do not close until nine o'clock.

Before Polls Open. Newark, N. J., Nov. 5.—Voters were in line for the polls before they opened in many towns and registration figures shows that an unusually large vote will be cast before noon.

Massachusetts Votes Early. Boston, Nov. 5.—Massachusetts army of voters began its march to the polls today before the rising of the sun. The registration figures showed an enrollment of 604,000 or 40,000 more than ever recorded before.

Michigan Weather Favorable. Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5.—When the polls opened at seven the voters stood in line at every booth in the city. The heaviest vote in years is anticipated. The weather was clear.

Crowds at Indiana Polls. Indianapolis, Nov. 5.—Long lines of voters were due at the opening of the polls this morning. Early indications were for a heavy vote. The sky was overcast.

Clear Skies in Ohio. Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Early reports from over the city indicated a heavy vote today. The morning dawned bright and clear and the voters turned out early.

At Sagamore Hill. Orster, Bay, Nov. 5.—The only sign of election day at Sagamore Hill was the presence of a line-man who ran a telegraph wire into a large room on the second floor of Col. Roosevelt's house, to bring in the returns from his secretary and as soon as he had finished breakfast was in his library at work on his correspondence. Then he took a walk. He said he would go to the village about noon to vote.

New York Vote Early. New York, Nov. 5.—All records for early and heavy voting appeared likely to be broken in New York state today and reports from nearly every county indicated that record polls would be made. There was generally fair weather generally in all parts of the state and in both the city and country districts voters went early to the polls. There were no reports of disorder.

Big Rush at Polls. Aurora, Ill., Nov. 5.—Voters literally stormed the polls here today. The crush was so great at some precincts that doors and windows were pushed in. In one country precinct the polling place caught fire and with it was burned up all its contents, but the voters waited around until election judges hurried to town and got a new supply of ballots and stationery.

Ballots Destroyed. Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 5.—Every printing press in Spartanburg was put to work with a rush this morning when it was discovered that ballots for use in today's election had either been destroyed or concealed.

Marshall Votes Straight. Indianapolis, Nov. 5.—"I suppose you voted the straight ticket, Governor." "I sure did," replied Gov. Thomas R. Marshall, democratic vice president just after he had cast his ballot at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Scratching in Illinois. Chicago, Nov. 5.—Throughout Illinois fine weather and a heavy vote marked today's contest. No serious disorder had been reported anywhere in the state up to noon. Scratching and ballot splitting developed to an extraordinary extent. "The silent vote" will decide this election," said David Mulvane, republican western campaign director, today.

TURKISH PRISONERS AT PODGORITZA.

direction her trade is expanding while at the same time the Servians spread to the Adriatic sea.

The Austrian government points out that the Albanians are as much a nation as any of the allies and that Albania should be reserved for the Albanians. The first sign of dissension among the Balkan allies themselves comes in a dispatch from Belgrade in which it is said the Servians are beginning to declare that "autonomous Albania" was agreed upon before the war started now has faded away.

In the dispatch the Musselman Albanians who fought against the Servian troops are blamed for the change in the Servian attitude. Instead of the 20 mile stretch of the Adriatic coast hitherto claimed by Servia, the same dispatch says the Servians now want 50 miles and that in return Montenegro is to get more than her allotted third share of the district of Novipazar.

A correspondent remarks significantly "The emperor of Russia will be taken as arbitrator between Servia and Bulgaria in regards to these conquests which were not foreseen in the original agreement between the allies."

In the meantime the Bulgarian troops in the vicinity of Thilola are preparing to resume their advice on Tchatalja. After four nights and four days of continuous fighting around Lule-Burgas, the Bulgarian soldiers were given two days' rest. This period expired today, and the troops by this time probably again are on the move.

The Bulgarian army near Thilola is being reinforced by troops taken from the investing forces around Adrianople whose places in turn have been taken by Servians. A second Bulgarian army commanded by Gen. Kutitcheff is marching along the coast of the sea of Marmora to affect a junction with the Bulgarian army commanded by Gen. Demitrius at Tchatalja.

Austria's Attitude

Vienna, Nov. 5.—The attitude of the Austria-Hungarian government in regard to the proposal of Premier Poincare for the adjustment of the Balkan situation is clearly stated today in the Neue Freie Presse which says:

"The present military situation in the Balkans cannot be decisive for the solution of the whole eastern question. Premier Poincare gives to the Balkan states more than they themselves have demanded."

"The proposal which is a most radical expression of Pan-Slavist tendencies is so one-sided that it can hardly find the approval of all the powers and particularly of Austria-Hungary. The less so as nothing is said regarding the future of Albania. This is a question which is of the greatest importance both to Austria-Hungary and Italy."

The first division of the Austria-Hungary fleet consisting three battleships, one cruiser and two torpedo boat destroyers left the naval station at Pola for the east during last night. The exact destination of the warships is not known. The commander of the division has been ordered to report to the Austria-Hungarian ambassador at Constantinople from which he will learn where the vessels can best be employed.

Blockade Extended.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Minister Schurman, at Athens cabled today that

ing the Turkish forces in that district. Another Bulgarian column formed of detachments from Drany and other captured towns is marching to the seaport of Kavala on the Aegean sea. An allied force consisting of Bulgarians from Karuk and Greeks from Yenidj-Vardja is proceeding by forced marching to Saloniki.

Except for a few straggling detachments of men in fighting formation and fleeing Turkish troops, the country beyond the Tchatalja forts forming the last Turkish defenses before Constantinople, is now clear of Ottoman troops. The investing Bulgarian forces on the plains below the Tchatalja hills present a front extending about 30 miles across the peninsula.

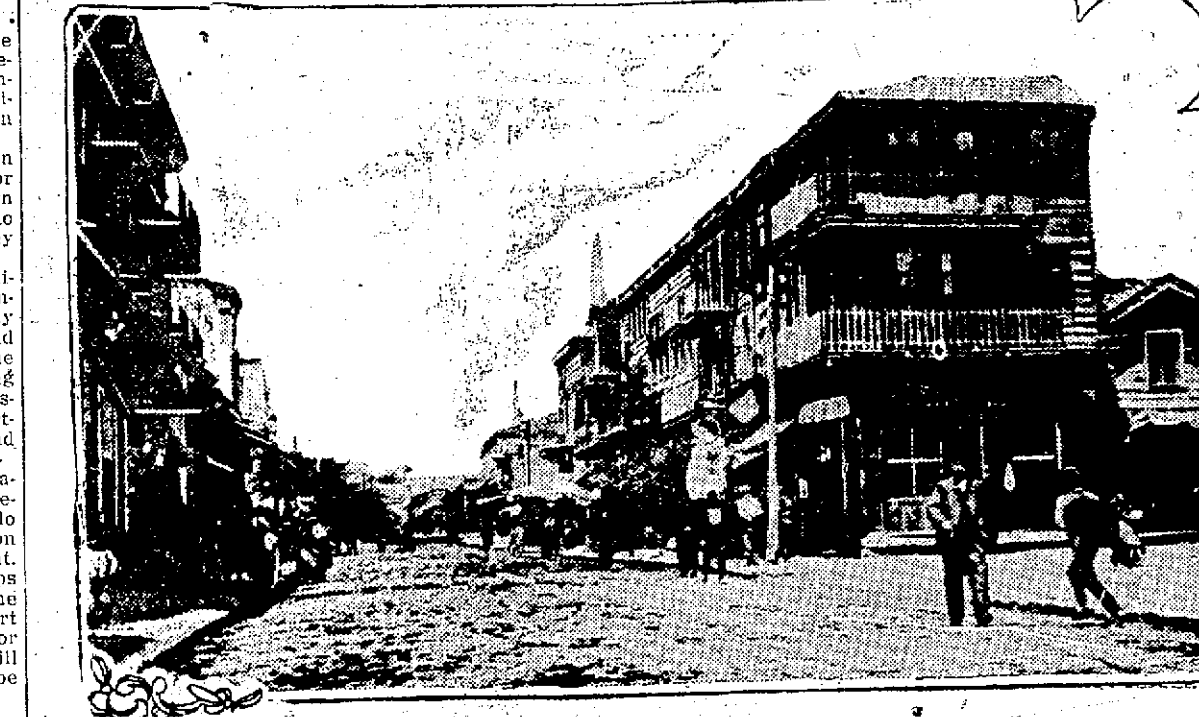

LEGISLATURE OF QUEBEC BEGINS REGULAR SESSION.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—With the usual ceremonies the session of the Quebec legislature was opened this afternoon. Escort by a military guard, the administrator of the Province arrived at the Parliament Buildings, a salute being fired from the Citadel. The speech from the stage was not an exceptionally long one. It was moved and seconded by Messrs. Tessier and Scott, both new members of the House.

COCA COLA COMPANY HAS SECURED AN INJUNCTION

The Coca-Cola Company of Atlanta, Ga. has recently secured an injunction in the United States District Court restraining the American Druggists Syndicate from using a name similar to their own on an article which that syndicate had placed upon the market.

CORPORATIONS WILL PAY LARGE AMOUNTS UNDER INCOME TAX

Rock County Companies Will Contribute Generously to City, County and State Under New Law.

According to the figures in the statement of the corporation income taxes for the various Rock county firms, just received from the state tax commission at the office of the county clerk, the incorporated business organizations will contribute liberally to the city, county and state governments. The statement as compiled by the tax commission, gives the total taxable income of the various firms, the rate of taxation and the total tax assessed against the corporation for the given district.

Most of the corporation taxes in this county are assessed against local corporations although there are a few outside or foreign firms, such as the Standard Oil and American Tobacco company, that will pay taxes in Rock county.

The largest corporation tax to be paid in the county is that of the Fairbanks-Morse company at Beloit which will contribute $11,487 on a taxable income of $91,460. The Berlin Machine Works of Beloit is second with a tax of $6,642 on a taxable income of $110,709.

It will be the duty of the county clerk to make out the corporation tax roll as well as the individual income tax roll from the statements as furnished by the tax commission and the county income tax assessor. The taxes as apportioned are the totals for the various districts and will be collected as other taxes. They will then be divided between the city, county and state, 70 per cent going to the district where assessed, 20 per cent to the county and 10 per cent to the state.

Some of the figures for the different firms will be of public interest and are given below. The total tax is not indicated but ranges around $80,000.

HUGE BLASTS EXPLODED AT CITY STONE QUARRY

Approximately 1,500 Cubic Yards, or Six Hundred Wagon Loads Were Dislodged Sunday.

Approximately 1,500 cubic yards of rock, equal to about 600 wagon loads, was dislodged by two large blasts at the city stone quarry Sunday. Twenty-eight holes were fired in one blast and fourteen in fifteen in the other. Superintendent Delin loaded some of the holes with eighteen or twenty sticks of dynamite. The loading and firing had to be done very rapidly Sunday as the dynamite was in danger of freezing in the holes. These are ten feet deep and from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches in diameter. From ten to twelve can be bored a day. The workmen who handle the dynamite are subject to violent headaches, caused not by the detonations, but by the nitro-glycerine, which is the explosive part of the material. The stone crushing outfit has been working "full blast" since the macadamizing of Washington street was begun.

"FORTUNE HUNTER" DELIGHTFUL COMEDY

Drama Rich in Humorous Incident, Clever Situations, and Faithful Impersonation of Types.

"For whole-souled comedy, free from the slightest taint of the risqué or coarse buffoonery, and yet entertaining in every line and situation, commend us to 'The Fortune Hunter'."

This was the sentiment of the audience which last night saw the presentation of "The Fortune Hunter" at the Myers theatre. Those who were so fortunate as to read the story before witnessing the play were delighted with the characterizations, which in almost every instance corresponded with the conceptions of them they had formed.

It would seem impossible to improve upon Thomas Rolfe's portrayal of "Sam Graham," the kindly, impractical, lovable village druggist, with his calm submission to the pangs of misfortune, unbroken faith in human goodness, and sincere appreciation of every effort to assist him and his daughter Betty. Make-up, facial expression, gesture, and voice, all harmonized and blended to make the characterization complete and faithful in every particular. From the moment Rolfe made his appearance on the stage, those familiar with the story felt, "Here is the real Sam Graham."

Those who witnessed the play may not agree as to relative merits of the actors, but most will agree that as Nathaniel Duncan, Denton Vane is equal to Rolfe as Graham. His role called for an alertness, lightning changes of attitude, and what is most difficult, the playing of an actor's part. He was in every respect the "Nat" of the story made real.

Fred E. Hand as Henry Kellogg, spoke his lines very well and looked and acted his part to the best of satisfaction. Grace Walton as "Betty Graham" pleased with her winsome manner and went of affection. "Tracy Tanager" the ardent village lover, impatient of interruptions in his wooing, could hardly have been more cleverly impersonated than by Harry Ellis. The entire cast down to Guy Kibbee, in the part of "Pete Willings," the hen-pecked deputy sheriff, were well chosen and efficient in their various roles.

One of the features of "The Fortune Hunter," that has given it long life and wide popularity is the fact that its characters are faithful portrayals of well known human types, such as are to be found in almost every country town and familiar to almost every observer. Furthermore, the story is simple, its incidents not far-fetched, its humor without bluntness, and the pathos natural. The backgrounds, stage furnishings, and costumes, helped materially in making the play realistic and effective.

MEN'S CLUB FAVORS WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Otterbein Brotherhood of U. B. Church Takes Unanimous Straw Vote in Favor of Proposition.

Members of the Otterbein Brotherhood of the United Brethren church at their regular meeting in the church parlors expressed themselves as unanimously in favor of woman's suffrage. Politics was the general subject of the evening, and the political situation and its various phases were thoroughly discussed. There was considerable difference of opinion as regards state, county and national tickets, but a straw vote taken was unanimous for giving the women equal rights. Similar action was also taken with regard to the amendment for the payment of the salaries of judges. The club expressed itself as against the amendment for the establishment of a capitol park in the city of Madison, as provided for in the proposed amendment.

CONSIDERED APPOINTMENT OF CITY VISITING NURSE

Executive Committee of Anti-Tuberculosis Association Met With Probable Appointment Yesterday.
Miss Agnes C. Anderson, a trained nurse of Milwaukee was in the city yesterday afternoon and met with the executive committee of the Janesville Anti-Tuberculosis association. Miss Anderson is an applicant for the position of city visiting nurse, the new office for which money was provided in the new municipal budget. Although no definite final action was taken by the committee, it is believed that it will agree to recommend a nurse to the council for appointment within a very short time. The members of the executive committee are the Rev. Deane E. E. Reilly, the Rev. W. A. Johnson, Mrs. Janet Day, Dr. W. A. Munz, City Health Officer Dr.

M. A. Cunningham, Miss Kate Nelson, H. L. McNamara, Mrs. Archie Reid, and George S. Parker.

RED CROSS SOCIETY MEETING EMERGENCY

Warning Issued Against Greek Red Cross Society Appeal For Aid In Present War.

Recently circulars were received asking for financial aid for the Greek Red Cross Society, to alleviate the suffering in the Balkan states due to the present war. This appeal was sent to the national headquarters of the American Red Cross Society and brings forth the following reply which shows the scope of the work of this noble organization:

I have just received your letter of October 21, with the inclosed circulars.

Members of the Greek Red Cross have issued these circulars without the knowledge of the American Red Cross but there is no reason to doubt the good faith of those who have sent them out. However, the American Red Cross deprecates strongly such action.

After the excitement of elections is over an appeal for all the sick and wounded in this war will be issued by the American Red Cross. The work of the Red Cross is international, and where assistance is given from neutral countries it must be done in the true spirit of the Red Cross and offered to all of the belligerents. The American Red Cross has already sent $1000 to each of the Red Cross Societies of Greece, Bulgaria, Serbia and Montenegro, and an equal amount to the Red Crescent of Turkey. All of these societies have asked the assistance of the American Red Cross.

Our society feels that no other appeals should be made to Americans save by the medium of the official Red Cross of this country. I would be glad if you would make the fact clear that all Americans should contribute for this work through their own Red Cross. If any desire that their contributions be sent specially to any one country, they can so designate; but otherwise relief will be given by the American Red Cross impartially, to all the belligerents. The sick and wounded soldier has neither race nor creed, and his sufferings must appeal to all humane people.
Thanking you for your kindness in forwarding the circulars, I am,
Yours very sincerely,
MABEL L. BOARDMAN.

JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT FOR MRS. EMMA MATSON

Verdict in favor of Emma Matson, plaintiff in the case of Emma Matson versus George F. Bahr, was brought in by the jury late yesterday afternoon. Bahr will have to pay damages amounting to $19,400, and costs totaling $1,050. The plaintiff asked for $295 and costs, which she alleged was due her for her services as housekeeper for the defendant from June 26, 1910 to September 16, 1912. John L. Fisher was counsel for the plaintiff and John Cunningham for the defendant.

Sport Snop Shots

by Dan M. Corty

McGraw, Jennings, Marquard and other of baseball's leading lights are robbing real actors of bread and butter. If Otis Skinner, Gillette, George Cohan and some others tried to get real money for their prowess on the diamond someone would cave in their domes with a piece of dynamite. Why not adopt the same attitude towards the stage?

We have the word of a New York scribe for it that Matheson and Marquard have ceased reading the sport pages because of frequent appearances of the name Baker. The Baker now receiving so much mention is "Hobe," of the Princeton team, and J. Franklin. But the name Baker itself distresses them.

The yachtmen of the New York A. C. will give a dinner in honor of Sir Thomas Lipton in the metropolis probably on Saturday evening, November 9. As Sir Thomas is very popular the event will doubtless be a memorable one.

Joe Jeanette aspires to step into Jack Johnson's shoes as heavyweight champion. His five fights in Australia, which will be pulled off this winter, will show whether his aspirants have any excuse for existence. He will meet among others Sam Langford and Sam McVey. Jeanette's share will be $25,000, with the privilege of 25 per cent of the gate.

Knockout Brown, the New York lightweight, is a 10 to 6 favorite over Phil Brock, Cleveland brawler, for their twelve-round battle at Cleveland on November 7.

MANDOT WINS BOUT WITH AD. WOLGAST

Decision as Rendered by New Orleans Newspaper Men Gives Local Boy The Contest.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 5.—The decision of wagers on the Wolgast-Mandot fight here last night were to be decided today by newspaper writers of four local newspapers and were in favor of wagers for Mandot. The agreement of the fight without a referee was the reason for this decision by the newspaper men and the wagers running into several thousands of dollars depend on their decision. Two papers decided in favor of Mandot and one called it a draw. The opinion of the fourth will not be known until this afternoon but should this be in favor of Wolgast, the three opinions already given and counting the draw vote which is counted as half a vote as is the custom, the honors will be given to the local boy.

Ed W. Smith of Chicago who refereed the fight said that Mandot had a "narrow escape" in the third round; that he went down to the neck up to the sixth, "but that his plain work after that up to the middle of the seventh evened up the fight" and un-

GETS-IT For Corns Really a Wonder

New Way, Painless, Safe and Sure

"Quit That! GETS-IT Will Get Any Corn."

The new kind of corn cure: the only sure kind: the only easy, safe, painless kind is here. It's what corn-pestered people have been looking for ever since the age of shoes. Does it really do the work? Well, just one trial will prove it. The name of this big surprise is "GETS-IT." Because it gets it. You don't have to wrap your toes in bandages. There are no plasters, no salves. What is more, "GETS-IT" will never, absolutely can't, hurt or make the true flesh sore, as many other corn "things" do. If it gets on the skin, it won't, can't hurt or injure the flesh. Apply it in two seconds. It's guaranteed, or your money is refunded. Your druggist sells "GETS-IT," 25 cents per bottle, or direct if you wish, from E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Janesville by McCue & Huss, Smith Drug Co., Reliable Drug Co., J. P. Baker & Son.

Princeton's football team isn't a one-man affair this season like it was last. In 1911, it will be recalled, Sammy White was the bright Tiger star that made the others look pale. This year's team as a whole is better than last year's but it has no Sammy White.

Tom Shevlin, former Yale captain and now millionaire lumberman of Minneapolis, is drilling Yale in new football for her games with Princeton and Harvard.

Since the death from pneumonia of Theodore York, right guard of the Yale football team, following his injury in the Yale-West Point game, the question of abolishing football as a college sport has been brought up in many American colleges. York played a smashing game against West Point, but upon his return to New Haven was sent to the infirmary because of injuries. His death followed within a few days.

Players who do the wrong thing in a crisis are not found alone in baseball. In Michigan the other day the Western State Normals beat Albion, 6 to 3. Strathorn of Albion grabbed a Normal forward pass, but ran for the wrong goal. This beat Albion 10 to 1.

When Clyde Milan left Washington for his winter home, Manager Carl Griffith of the Senators pinned a medal on the little outfielder. It bore the inscription: "To the greatest base stealer in the world—from his manager." Milan set a new American league record during the past season by pilfering 89 sacks.

For Croupy Children Have Musterole at Hand

When you hear the croup alarm from your child, you must have relief at hand—relief prompt and certain. MUSTEROLE positively brings children out of danger, and it does not blister the tenderest skin.

"THE GIRL WHO DARED."

The old time chorus girl, who has been the butt of the humorous papers since they have been first published, has been entirely eliminated from the big production of that fascinating musical mixture, "The Girl Who Dared," which will be offered here tonight. They have been superseded by small chorus girls of prepossessing appearance and good voices, who can not only sing and act, but are expert dancers. Two performances will be given this evening, Nov. 5th. Election returns will be read from the stage.

"FRECKLES."

Great care has been taken by Manager A. G. Delamater in selecting the artists to create the different roles in the dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's novel "FRECKLES." The most difficult role to fill was that of Freckles as it not only required an exceedingly young, handsome actor, but one who was possessed of a Grand Opera voice as well. At least a hundred different applicants were interviewed before one was selected. There are very few Scotch artists in America at present disengaged, therefore it was necessary to send to England for actors to play Mr. and Mrs. Duncan. The other parts are portrayed by American actors and actresses all of whom are thoroughly familiar with the types prevailing in the locale where the story is laid.

Flagged Train With Shirt.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price, 50 cents at People's Drug Co.

REHBERG'S

Merchants' and Manufacturers' week Nov. 11 to 16. Come and get some of the Bargains.

"BACK on the job"—cold weather—we've had a "touch" of it. Here to stay, soon. The proverbial "ounce of prevention" counsels overcoat readiness—it's better to be ready than cold. Overcoat headquarters have been established here—stock so large and broad and varied that we can give you "what you want, when you want it." Belted and plaited back coats, shawl or convertible collars, double breasted Ulsters, Chesterfields—everything. And as usual the type of values that have made this the largest clothing store in Janesville. Dependability and trustworthiness at moderate prices—

$12.75, $14.75, $18.00, $20.00, $25.00, $28.00, $30.00

THIS is a special message to the young man who hasn't as yet "fallen into the rut" of ordinary Overcoats—who wants an individually cut coat of a different color and cloth. We're ready for you—know what you want, not "about" what you want but EXACTLY what you want. We're ready with "out-of-the-beaten-path" ideas—coats you're bound to like, no matter how hard to please you may be. The prices are moderate, $10, $12.75, $14.75, $15, $18, $20, $25.

THERE'S a certain name that represents perfection in every line—in the clothing it's "Michaels-Stern." First point of superiority is fit—that smooth, custom fit and advantageous appearance that count for a lot. And then there are the woollens—they're the "pick of the world's looms"—from every clime. Men who seek suits of custom character divorced from the custom prices should choose "Michaels-Stern" productions. $25, $28, $30 and $35.00.

"WHAT'S the quality price?" It's a question that's asked in every trade about every commodity. We alone can ask it forcefully when it comes to men's and young men's suits. The result brings you suits at $14.75 that cost $18 anywhere else. Make comparison, weigh these suits in the balance, investigate, scrutinize, apply any test you care to—your investigation will prove our statement—we wouldn't have made the claim if we doubted its truth. All the new styles, woollens, colors and patterns, $14.75.

YOUNG men owe themselves an inspection of our display of young men's suits—they're so sure to find what they want that they're wasting time in looking elsewhere; $10, $15, $18, $20.

THE trouser section is satisfactorily serving a daily increasing number of men—you ought to be one of them. Right now there are specially interesting displays at $2, $2.50, $3.50 and $5 and up.

Stom King high collar Sweater Coats, $3.50, $5.00 to $7.00; medium weights, $2 and $2.50. Street Gloves, standard makes, $1.00 and $1.50. Full shape Scarfs, a Saturday special at .50c. Others at 35c and 25c. $1.50 Silk Four-in-hands at $1.00. Union Suits, medium and extra weights, well known makes, $1.00, worth a half more.

Style and quality, a maximum of both in Rehberg hats at $3.00 and in our Elk Hats at $2; they're "balanced" productions in every way. Our display of fine hats knows no equal in Janesville for size, variety, for correctness. Exceptional values now at $2.50.

You can expect great values in this shoe department of ours, we've aimed to give them and we've succeeded and you can expect conscientious and careful fitting—the kind that means comfort. Special values in hundreds of styles, men's and women's, $3, $3.50, $4, and $5. Dr. Reed's Cushion Shoe, $5 and $5.50.

THE VERDICT.

The will of the majority is the law
that governs and when the result of today's verdict is known, it remains
for the people to accept it gracefully.
There will be many disappointments,
as there have been many differences
of opinion, but these will soon be forgotten, for the interests of the American people are common interests.

The nation is greater than any party,
and infinitely greater than any man
who aspires to leadership, however popular he may be. There are times
when great issues absorb attention,
but this has not been the case in the campaign just closed.

The three parties engaged in the contest have all been inspired by the belief that they could render the best service to the people, and the vote today will show that all of them had a substantial following. The successful party will have an opportunity to make good, and failure will mean retirement at the end of four years.

In the meantime it remains for the people who have not been in sympathy with the successful party to fall in line and support the incoming administration in the interests of the common good.

The nation has been making rapid strides, under the stimulus of great prosperity. The pace has been more or less demoralizing, and sooner or later will demand a halt. There will be no occasion for surprise if the demand is met in the verdict of today's election.

If this proves to be the case there will be ample time to repair the weak places and take account of stock. It is possible that the high cost of living
may find a way to adjust itself, and
then everybody should be happy.
Whatever happens let us be loyal citizens
to the best government under the sun.

A HOPEFUL OUTLOOK.

The following extract from a New York financial letter, written on the eve of election, expresses the feeling
which obtains at the great money center, and indicates that the day of free trade evils may be postponed for a time, in the event of Wilson's election.

"The quieting down of radicalism is particularly significant. Important changes are unquestionably coming in our political make-up, but they are likely to be gradual changes and not revolutionary upheavals. The tariff appears to be the main issue, trusts
and currency having been relegated
to second and third places. If Mr.
Taft is elected the tariff will be re-
adjusted on a moderate scale downward. If Mr. Wilson is elected it is extremely improbable that he will take the radical attitude sometimes attributed to him.

The tariff is no longer a one-party
issue, because the democratic ranks
now include a considerable protectionist element. By all fair-minded and intelligent men of whatsoever political faith it is recognized that the protective system has been established in this country for many years;
that important industries are still measurably dependent upon its support, and that therefore a destructive policy cannot be justified. No sane
business man wishes to see the tariff smashed. What the country needs is a gradual downward revision in a manner that will create the least possible derangement.

No tariff legislation will be attempted during the short session of congress from December to March. It is believed that Mr. Wilson, if elected,
has no intention of calling a special session. That would postpone re-opening of the tariff question until December, 1913. Should a new bill be then

ON THE SPUR
OF THE MOMENT
By ROY K. MOULTON.

According to Uncle Abner,
A feller will wallow in baby talk before he gets married, but afterward he starts to break up the furniture if his wife calls him by a pet
name.

There ain't nothing that will last longer than a love letter that a feller
hadn't order written in the first place.
It's a queer world. Before marriage a feller always wants to go
buggy ridin' and the gal don't, and after they are married she always
wants to go and he ain't got no time.

When a feller goes along the street
lookin' at himself in the plate glass winders he is either in love or he has got a new hat, and most likely it's both.

A single woman kin get herself up
a mighty sight cheaper than she kin
after she is married.

The leaflets turn
From green to gold,
The northern breeze
Is growing cold.

'Tis late we know
But do not fret;
Be brave and you
May find him yet.

Do not give up,
Keep on, m' dear,
Remember this
Is still Leap Year.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.
Old Man Purdy has got a new wooden leg made out'n Norway poplar, and every time he stands still in the mud for a minute his leg takes root and he has to have it chopped
loose by the hook and ladder department. Elmer Jones bought a bottle introduced, experience shows that three to six months may be required for discussion. Consequently the probabilities are that no actual change

in the tariff can occur for a period of about eighteen months. This should set at rest all apprehensions of any disturbance on this score during the approaching winter.

The South is not demanding free
trade, as many of her industries need protecting. Many northern democrats are engaged in manufacturing, and they are not clamoring for a radical reduction in the tariff. These two great forces may be able to hold the party in line.

NATURAL GAS IN KANSAS.

The quantity of natural gas produced in Kansas in 1911, according to the United States Geological Survey, was 38,799,406,000 cubic feet, valued at $4,854,534.

The estimated consumption of gas
at "cement plants" was 13,272,417,000
cubic feet, valued at $729,911, an average price of 5.5 cents per thousand cubic feet. Zinc smelters used an estimated quantity of 13,186,505,000 cubic feet of gas, valued at $543,301, an average price of 4.12 cents per thousand cubic feet, the price ranging from 1 to 7 1/2 cents. Brick and glass works used an estimated 3,594,287,000 cubic
feet of gas, valued at $191,140, an average of 5.3 cents per thousand cubic feet, the price ranging from 3 to 9 cents.

"Although no new gas fields were reported for Kansas in 1911, considerable development work was accomplished in the old fields of the state,
resulting in the discovery of some
very good wells, a total of 301 productive gas wells having been completed during the year."

Nature has been very liberal in the distribution of supplies, and many of her great reservoirs have not yet been tapped. The gas product of Kansas is a by-product, as the state is largely an agricultural state. The five million dollars from gas represents new wealth, provided by nature, and held
in reserve for the benefit of the state.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

The city of Memphis adopted the commission form of government, three years ago, and the people are very much pleased with results. Taxes
have been reduced, and every department of government greatly improved.
"A representative citizen of Mobile
while in Memphis on a visit took occasion to call upon Mayor Crump and express his admiration for what he termed 'the wonderful growth of the city in the last two years,' concluding
his laudatory statement with the remark that Memphis has set an example for commission government progressiveness."

"We Memphians naturally are proud of the respect and prominence 'the Gateway to the South' has attained.
There is no denying the fact that capable and honest administration can do wonders toward a promotion of municipal progress. But Memphis is not going to rest on her laurels. As far as her municipal government is concerned, progress will be pushed right along. Several departments have reduced expenses to a minimum
in the last four years, and another saving to the city of about $50,000 is about to be recorded.

"During the last four years it cost
the city $80,000, in round numbers, to collect its taxes. Since the inauguration of the city treasurer's office, the fee for collection of city taxes has been reduced to a maximum of $7,500 annually, or $30,000 in four years.
This is a saving in itself of $50,000.
Mayor Crump declares that it will not cost $7,500 a year to collect the city taxes. Is it to be wondered that outsiders living under the regime of a graft-ridden administration should look upon Memphis with envious
eyes?"

Miss Lottie Bibbins expects to take a course in a musical observatory this winter. Hank Tumms says he always thought an observatory was a place where they keep followers. Of course they are both wrong. An observatory is the place where the weather comes from.

William Tibbitts sold a package of hooks and eyes Thursday. Must be somebody is having a new dress made
at this writing.

Elmer Jones's brother was all covered with powder the other day when he said he got by carryin' home a sack of flour. Tell that to the marines. Elmer. A feller don't go to a milliner store to buy flour.

Grandma Perkins is not much better at this writing and there ain't many hopes for her. She lathed and plastered two houses last week and is digging a well at this writing for Uncle Ezra Harkins.

Amos Butts, our popular and congenial undertaker, has gone to Chicago for an extended visit of two days. Those expecting to dis please call up his wife, who is also an expert embalmer, also messaging, manicuring, chiropoding and palm reading.

Hank Tumms drops a quarter in the collection plate at the meeting house
every Sunday and takes out a half dollar change. No kick has been made, as the folks believe the money
may as well go to the heathen at home as abroad.

Thieves have been robbin' William Tibbitts's ice chest and he has went down to the city to buy one of those chest protectors he has seen advertised so much of late. Some feller cut a hole in the bellows of the pipe organ at the meetin' house and when Old Man Purdy started to pump her
up she blew him out of the window.
There wasn't no wind for the organ
so Rev. Hudnutt made up the deficiency by preaching an hour longer
than usual.

The campaign against vice is progressing slowly but surely, and good results are already apparent. The movement should command the support of all law-abiding citizens.

Washington street should be oiled
as soon as finished, if the weather permits, and at city expense. Oil is proving a fine preservative as a water-shed
and binder.

Election night without the saloon is a novelty, and everybody will have a chance to go home sober.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

After reading the account in this paper, of the deliberation of our wise
citizens, in absolute control of ways
and means to make Janesville a clean
city, it seems to me the most idiotic
conclusion that could possibly enter overworked, befuddled heads, (not brains by any means) has been blazoned before the public. That women should be barred from saloons. Now I ask any good honest woman, whether she be wife, mother or sister, what does this suggest to you? I have lived some few years and can count
on my fingers (and not use all at that) every woman that has been indulged
in liquor to the extent of intoxication.
And I know from personal observation
I see more than 175 men to one woman under the influence of liquor.
Now in all sincerity, why this prohibition? I never admired Carrie Nation's way of doing business, but the main idea was all right and I think ladies
should be ladylike, but it strikes me
that women are obliged to rise in a body and assert her rights, and stop such dirty insinuating snubs as that by our councilmen. Was it women who foully murdered the Bergsterman girl?
Was it women who sold those two young boys the booze to incite their brain to evil? Was it a woman sold the blind boys liquor until they were intoxicated? Look through the jail and city hall record and see how many women compared with men you find incarcerated there for drunkenness during last year and see if there is any common sense in such a decision. Had most of the crime been committed by women through drink
then there would be no kick. Still men wonder why women wish to vote.
I think it high time women seized
every man by the foretop and demand
a chance to have a voice in what is of such vital importance to us. I must say we have some very brave men in Jesse fifteen. Are they afraid they may have to skulk and dodge in order that they may not meet their wife or daughter in one of these saloons? If it is a public place licensed and fit for men to frequent, why it be polluted by a good woman? Will it have a place at

DR. PRICE'S
CREAM
Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—
these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—
biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry when perfectly
made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such foods should be more
largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

all not fit for any good, decent citizen
male or female adult? What is a public place? Will they prohibit women from drug stores? Why didn't it read minors either male or female? If a crime is a crime what matter who commits it? Isn't it just as much a crime if a woman commits it? Perhaps if these saloons were stripped of all blinds, wooden fences
and swinging doors so these women
could see the full length and breadth
of the place they wouldn't care to go in, and I know nine-tenths of our business men wouldn't either. Why don't they compel saloon keepers to clear their place of all chairs, nickel
pianos, singing and dancing bums to allure young children in? Surely Janesville needs cleaning up, and I think the clearing out of slot machines
one small step in the right direction.
But after this long deliberation, I think they have showed tremendous forethought for themselves, for surely

the ones they are trying to bar do no damage worth mentioning. Brave men indeed to hide behind a woman's skirt. Why don't you dare strike at the right parties? Of what are you afraid? Men do most of the drinking the world over. Why in all common sense don't you begin to make yourselves noted by doing nothing in the right direction, why not strike the blow exactly where it is most needed

instead of attacking the weaker— and most decidedly inoffensive party.

BOY IS CRITICALLY INJURED IN RUNAWAY

Rudolph Albrecht of Footville Thrown Against Telephone Pole—Extent of Injuries Unknown.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Center, Wis., Nov. 5.—While driving to the Footville creamery with a load of milk this morning, Rudolph Albrecht, the fourteen-year-old son of Fred Albrecht, lost control of the team, which ran away. The pole was broken at a turn in the road, and soon afterward the wagon crashed into a telephone pole, throwing the boy against it with great force. He was at once taken to the office of Dr. Lucy, who after making an examination stated that it would take nearly twenty-four hours before the extent of his injuries could be determined. His lungs were found full of blood and it is feared that he has suffered serious and possibly fatal internal injuries. A nurse was summoned from Janesville and the two sisters of young Albrecht, who work at the county hospital were sent for. The team ran for about half a mile but was stopped when it struck the telephone pole.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

GETTING WHAT ONE WANTS.

A SPLENDIDLY progressive and alert young woman was telling her friends about a summer course in architecture which she had been taking.

"How I wish I had time for something like that," sighed one of her listeners. "I've always been simply crazy about landscape gardening, and last spring I thought perhaps I'd take a course in it, but I simply couldn't find the time."

Now this lover of landscape gardening is also a lover of embroidery. She was wearing at the moment a wonderful lingerie gown fairly slathered with the most exquisite and intricate embroidery. She made it herself. She has more elaborately embroidered waists, gowns, lingerie and accessories in her wardrobe than any girl I ever knew. And she does all the work herself. And yet she could not find the time to take a course of summer study which would have taken at the most twelve hours a week.

Now please understand that I am not depreciating the way in which this girl spent her time. She had a perfect right to spend it as she chose, and who shall say that she was not quite as well occupied in employing her talent for producing exquisite handiwork as she would have been acquiring a smattering of information about landscape gardening. But the point is this—she said she was "simply crazy" about landscape gardening. I question the sincerity of her insanity. In other words, if she really wanted to take that course as much as she thought she wanted to, she could have found the time.

"What a man wants that will be got," says Emerson, "or be changed in the trying." There is far more everyday truth in that philosophy than we realize. Genuine, wholehearted wanting of anything is a tremendous leverage. Somehow or other we are likely to find time for the things we really and truly want. And when we say that we can't possibly do this or that or the other, despite the fact that we want to with all our hearts, we are likely to be deceiving ourselves.

Desire, if it is strong enough, develops ability. One of the most happy-go-lucky, money careless girls I ever knew developed after her marriage into an ultra-economical housewife. With the eternal vigilance that is always the price of household economy she scrupulously saves and contrives, and manages to run her house on a record sum. Now is this wonderful change in character the result of necessity, her husband earning a generous salary. It is simply the result of her desire to have most of the money for pretty clothes.

When anyone says, "I have been longing to come and see you but I simply couldn't find the time," I've been so disappointed," I usually take the longing and the disappointment with a grain of salt.

Most people get what they want in this world, even the unselfish ones who live for others, because unless that was what they really wanted the most, they wouldn't be that way.

WHAT this old world chiefly needs is some Sunday religion on week days and some company manners in the bosom of the family.

THANKSGIVING DISHES.

For the Thanksgiving time, when friends, relatives and countrymen are dropping in for a social tea or luncheon, it is the prudent forehanded housewife who keeps her cake box well replenished, and other good things easily at hand.

Honey Cakes.—Melt a fourth of a cup of butter, add a cup of strained honey; let it cool, then add the rind of a lemon grated, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, three tablespoonfuls of blanched, chopped almonds, a fourth of a teaspoonful of mace, half a teaspoonful of soda and two cupfuls of flour sifted together. Mix thoroughly and set aside for twelve hours to season. Roll into a sheet half an inch thick, cut in squares and bake in a moderate oven. When baked, brush over with a heavy sirup made by boiling together a cup of sugar and half a cup of water. Let cool a little before putting on the cakes.

Baked Beets.—Wash and put the beets to bake in a moderate oven, being careful not to break the skins. Turn frequently, using a wooden spoon. Remove the skins, add butter and serve hot.

Stuffed Onions.—Take sufficient onions to serve each with one; boil until tender enough to remove the centers. Chop the centers, add cooked chopped ham, season to taste. Moisture with cream and the yolk of an egg, fill the centers with this mixture and place a bit of butter on the top of each onion. Set in a deep dish, pour a little milk over and bake, covered, for twenty minutes. Then sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake ten minutes longer.

Cauliflower-Tomato Sauce.—Boil a fresh cauliflower, then drain it carefully; sprinkle with white pepper and place on a hot dish. Pour over it a cupful of tomato sauce, sprinkle with breadcrumbs browned in butter, add a squeeze of lemon juice and a dash of pepper and a quarter of a cup of grated cheese. Place in the oven until very hot.

Scalloped Oysters.—Take six nice fresh oysters, cut away the tough muscle and beard. Cover a sauce with fine bread crumbs, lay in the oysters, season and add a few drops of lemon juice, and dot with small pieces of butter. Cook in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown.

RICE AND RAISINS.

"What kind of raisins and how much at each meal should be used with rice as recommended recently?" a writer asks. Unpolished rice has more flavor than the polished and yet it needs sweetening, and raisins combine well with rice and are preferable for sweetening to sugar or honey. Half the weight may be raisins. The seedless raisins are to be preferred for this purpose to the seeded. The Thompson seedless has a thin skin which also makes it more easily digested than the larger seeded raisins. No dried fruit is easily digested without soaking. The raisins should be first washed, and soaked for three hours, and when the rice has been cooked ten minutes, and before being put in the fireless cooker, the raisins should be mixed through it. The steam from the rice will swell the raisins and make a very palatable and nutritious and easily digested combination. Milk may be added, but not cooked with the rice.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS
Edna K. Vooley

course, a matter of grave consideration and every girl should be guarded from such a possibility.

There is something more to be thought about, and that is the effect upon young womanhood of putting it in the position of overcoming natural modesty and boldly addressing all sorts of strange men on the public streets, in public buildings, even in private offices which they invade.

The girls know that the enterprise is depending upon their wiseness to win money, and they do not hesitate to try their best, of charm, believing the effort to be in good cause. It is not serving a good cause, however, to send out modest, sweet and pretty girls out into the world to gain money, for any purpose, by stopping strange men on the street, buttonholing them, wheeling them, making eyes at them, counting on their youth and femininity for sordid gain.

It is to the credit of most men that they have not taken advantage of what is thrust upon them. But it is not exactly to the credit of these girls' mothers that they allow their daughters to cultivate such boldness and to go against all those finer feelings that we look for in woman's heart and conduct.

If there must be tag days, let elderly women do the tagging. They can do it with dignity and possibly their gray hairs will command returns fully as munificent as those given to their daughters.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Heavenly Jam.
Seven pounds grapes; pulp and remove seeds. Put with pulp and skins six pounds of granulated sugar, four oranges (chop peel and slice pulp) and one pound seeded raisins. Cook all together until thick.

Things Worth Knowing.
I read so many good suggestions in household hints; I have a suggestion to offer in return. Last summer my little girl nearly ruined a gingham dress with grass stain, but a friend suggested cold oil. I poured cold oil over the place, rolled the dress up and let it lie for a little, then washed with real warm water and soap; it removed all the stain.

To clean white woolen shawls, spread over a table a sheet. On this place the shawl to be cleaned; powder it all over with finely ground starch; fold it up, powdering well each fold. Press well together, leave it for several hours wrapped up in the sheet; next squeeze and rub well together with both hands, then shake off the starch thoroughly. If carefully done the shawl will look as fresh and white as when new.

Cleaning white plumes, etc.—To a quart of gasoline use one cup flour, stir well wash plumes and feathers thoroughly with this mixture; shake while drying.

To cook ice hominy—When making the old-fashioned "ice hominy" and the corn is all washed and clean, ready for the final cooking, try putting the corn in your roaster, cover well with water, put on lid and place roaster in hot oven. It then requires no watching, except seeing that there is plenty of water.

To make rich pie crust, mix with cold milk in place of water; just fine.

The Table.
Club Toast—A substantial dish for breakfast or luncheon: Place on each plate a slice of dry toast. On this place a slice of broiled ham, and on the ham a poached egg. Over all pour a sauce made by bringing one cup cream to the scalding point, and stirring into it a tablespoonful of butter and half as much flour blended; season with salt and a dash of white-pep-

Noises of the Night

THROUGH the stillness came the sound of a person snoring. It was a scintillating snore, and the listener wondered how any one could produce such subterranean roars and snorts without choking to death or waking up.

A dog moved restlessly, rattled his chain, whined a bit, and barked under his breath. Some one got up and slammed down a window. The gong of an ambulance clanged wildly, and the dash of horses' feet could be heard in a distant street.

The listener wondered if an accident had happened, and if some mangled and suffering form were being whirled where science and skill could ease it. She shivered, and tried to put the picture out of her mind. Stillness settled down again, except for the snorer, who kept right on at the same old stand. Then, through the quiet night, came the regular beat of a blacksmith's hammer on the anvil.

"That's strange," thought the listener. "Who can be having a horse shod at this time of night? It must be something terribly important." Nothing more romantic than a doctor could suggest itself. "In the old time," she thought, "it might be some king's messenger, or Revolutionary patriot, or an eloping couple. But now—" she turned impatiently. "Suppose it was some terrible news of war, or coming of Indians, or something like that. Well, I'm glad it isn't Indians," she thought as she snuggled under the covers.

Above the undertone of the snorer suddenly came the regular breathing of some gigantic monster.

She sat up and listened. It was deep, sinister, vibrant; a breath, but a breath that seemed to flood the whole city with a soughing that crept into the town's most secret nooks.

"What can it be?" she thought. "It seems as if some awful dragon, breathing fire and destruction, were coming."

For quite a little while, the sound pulsed back and forth. Then, it gradually died away.

"Well, we are saved," she thought. "But I would like to know what it was."

She lay there imagining what it might have been, until upon her meditations broke the tinkling of bells.

Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle; they went slowly down the street, and it set her thinking of the slow journey of the farmers in the olden days, through the dark night, with wains laden with produce of the farm, apples, potatoes, chickens, eggs, lard, turnips, golden pumpkins, maybe fat turkeys. She thought whatever the fields and flocks could yield for the city markets. She thought of the drivers looking up to the stars, when they weren't asleep, as their horses plodded along, and she concluded such trips must have been rather pleasant.

Then the bread-wagons and the milk-wagons began to clatter by. An alarm clock went off, and somebody muttered an imprecation, and the muffled tones of the clock could be heard smotheringly protesting from under a pillow.

A baby whimpered, and it was softly hushed and patted. A mouse scampered somewhere in the walls. And the listener wondered if some where a cat was waiting to pounce upon the mouse as it was enjoying its night adventure.

Then the window began to outline itself. The sky flushed faintly. The snorer gave a few grand opera finales and awoke; and the listener decided that a wakeful night could be quite interesting after all.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 16 and I have a few boy friends who would like to come and see me, but my stepfather won't let them. My mother is willing. What would you advise me to do? BLUE EYES.

Ask your stepfather very nicely if he will let the boys come in for friendly visits, and promise him that there won't be any mushiness or love-making. Invite him to be on hand and see for himself, when the boys are there. Maybe he will enjoy their visits, too.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a married woman and have four little tots. My husband is a business man and the children will go to the place where he works. He comes home every night and talks to me awfully about the little things because they go there. He used to want us to come, but of late it makes him mad for us to go at all. What can be wrong with him? UNHAPPY.

He is probably very busy and does not want to be annoyed even by his own family. No busy man thanks his wife or children to bother him during business hours. Possibly his employer doesn't like to have him interrupted by his family. Keep away from his office.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—Should hen be steeped in tin or porcelain to make a coloring for faded hair and what will set the color? H. F.

Steep it in porcelain, using boiling water. The less water you use and the longer it is steeped, the deeper the color will be. You do not need to set it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 20 and for two years have been going with a man five years my senior. He thinks the world of me. As my folks object to my going with him I have almost given him up, although I still love him. My folks say they will disown me as their child if I ever marry him. He has no bad habits, of any kind. What am I to do? ANXIOUS.

If he is a good man and loves you, is able to support you and wants to marry you, it is a question for your heart to decide.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl of 18 and very anxious to become a bookkeeper. Should I have a high school education to become one? (2) Where could I learn to be a first-class dressmaker? (3) I love a young man very dearly but think he loves another girl far more than he does me. What can I do to not love him so and still be friends with him? BROWN EYES.

(1) A grammar school education is sufficient. A business college will give you a special course. (2) Inquire of the Young Women's Christian Association in the nearest city. (3) My dear, you are the first to ask me such a question. Usually the girl wants to know how she can win the man's love, whether it is right or wrong. I am glad that you are sensible, and I am sure your heart is full of kindness. Think of him as a sort of brother, keep your thoughts busy with work or a hobby, and read good books in your spare time.

Muffins

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

When muffins are of the breakfast table, nobody cares for meat or eggs, and they would be served more often if this meal were not prepared so hurriedly that there is no time to make them. If K. C. the double-raise baking powder is used, the batter may be stirred up the night before, put in the pan ready for baking and nothing to do in the morning but bake them.

One-Egg Muffins

2 cups flour; 2 slightly rounded teaspoonfuls K. C. Baking Powder; 1 teaspoonful salt; 1 cup sugar; 1 cup melted butter or lard; 1 egg; 1 cup water or milk. Sift dry ingredients together three times. Add to this the unbaked egg, melted shortening and water or milk. Then beat all together until perfectly smooth. Oil muffin or gem pans and have oven slow until the muffins come to the top of the pan, then increase the heat to bake and brown the muffins. This recipe makes 12 large muffins. Raisins or currants may be added if desired.

Graham Muffins

1 cup graham flour; 1 cup pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K. C. Baking Powder; 1/2 level teaspoonful sugar; 1/2 level teaspoonful salt; 1 egg; 1/2 cup milk or water; 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter; mix and bake as One-Egg Muffins.

Graham batter should always be quite soft to insure light and moist muffins.

To get 33 other recipes as good as these, send us the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K. C. Baking Powder, and we will send you "The Cook's Book" by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill. Handsomely illustrated. James Mfg. Co., Chicago.

BAD BREAKING OUT ON CHILD'S SCALP

Little White Lumps, Pimples Would Break and Run Matter, Itching and Burning. Hair Came Out in Bunches. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured. Also Made Hair Grow.

313 E. Second St., Muncie, Ind.—"My little girl had a bad breaking out on the scalp. It was little white lumps. The pimples would break out as large as a common pinhead all over her head. They would break and run yellow matter. She suffered nearly a year with itching and burning. It was sore and itched all the time. The matter that ran from her head was very thick. I did not comb her hair very often, her head was too sore to comb it, and when I did comb, it came out in bunches. Some nights her head itched so bad she could not sleep.

I tried several different soaps and ointments, also patent medicine, but nothing could I get to stop it. I began using Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment this summer after I sent for the free samples. I used them and they did so much good I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. I washed her head with Cuticura Soap and rubbed the Cuticura Ointment in the scalp every two weeks. A week after I had washed her head three times you could not tell she ever had a breaking out on her head. Cuticura Soap and ointment also make the hair grow beautifully. I cannot say enough for them for they cured my little girl." (Signed) Mrs. Emma Patterson, Dec. 22, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tastes nice—acts gently.

COUNTY WILL SPEND $51,000 FOR STATE HIGHWAYS IN 1913

State Aid Fund Totals $11,155 While County and Townships Will Raise Over $40,000.

Rock county will spend $51,000 on state aid highways in 1913 of which amount the state apportionment is $11,155 according to the announcement received at the county clerk's office from the state highway commission.

Of the remainder the county will raise $20,225 to be divided among the townships according to the amount raised in each town, the county contributing a sum equal to that of the town. The townships themselves will raise $20,225 which makes up the total.

It is evident from the figures that the county will receive as state aid only a little more than half of the amount petitioned for. The amount of the tax which the county will pay for the state aid fund according to the secretary of state's apportionment is $10,127.

The total amount of state aid money distributed will be $378,000 while 1,195 townships in the state have petitioned for a total of $811,150 making an excess petitioned for of $444,426. According to the first allotment Rock county received but $10,916, but there were $11,267 not asked for which was divided proportionately among the counties petitioning for an excess which made an addition for Rock county of $231.

Other counties will receive state aid as follows: Milwaukee $74,456 out of $77,725 petitioned for; Dane $18,485 out of $45,231 petitioned for; Jefferson $7,470 out of $13,500 petitioned for; Dodge $10,758 out of $14,742 petitioned for; Green $6,390 out of $23,715 petitioned for; Sauk $6,620 out of $36,416 petitioned for; Walworth $7,600 out of $4,400 petitioned for; Waushara $7,328 out of $8,750 petitioned for; Monroe $4,272 out of $21,673.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

TEETH.

(By Howard L. Rann.)
TEETH are an affliction in the form of small, light-colored pegs which are set in the human mouth by an unscrupulous Providence. These pegs are of a nervous and excitable disposition, and have to be operated upon several times a year by a "tooth-ketcher," a dentist, or a dentist's assistant.

Tooth-ketching is a process which begins in youth, and soon starts out to accumulate a set, during which process every body in the same block becomes incipiently nutty. These first teeth are merely for introductory purposes, and are later elbowed out of place by some permanent fixtures, which remain in one spot for several years and collect cravities ranging from the head of a pin to the main entrance to a bushel basket.

Some teeth are considerably more durable and clinging than others, and never have to be counterfeited at an expense of $3 for a perfect fit. People who enjoy this kind of teeth, and who refuse to have them pulled up from time to time and decorated with gold bands and other luminous trimmings, including the uneasy, trembling smile, which is always coming out just prior to some social function.

The most treacherous tooth in any language is the wisdom tooth. No body asked to have this tooth sent, and it is good for nothing except to pupate the refractory "hickory nut." It is located in the northeast corner of Section 18, west of the 5th P. M., and can be reached only with the aid of a step ladder. When the dentist wishes to do business with a wisdom tooth, he stands the patient on his head and backs in with a reversible flashlight.

The eye tooth is a bundle of nerves which lie close to the surface and can be found without any difficulty whatever by an agile drill. There is also the supine bi-cuspid, which is continually giving out in a new place and swelling up like a pouter pigeon. After a man has been punched in the face for twenty-four hours by an irascible bi-cuspid, death at the stake will look sweet to him.

The Food Route To Steady Health

Many persons are kept ill because they do not know how to select food that their own particular bodies will take up and build upon.

What will answer for one may not do for another.

If one is ailing it is always safe to change food and seek the Road to Wellville on a plain simple diet.

The most perfectly made food for human use is

Grape-Nuts

It contains the vital food elements of wheat and barley, including the Phosphate of Potash (grown in the grain) especially required for rebuilding brain and nerves.

The food has a fascinating flavour.

Healthy Baby is Precious Blessing

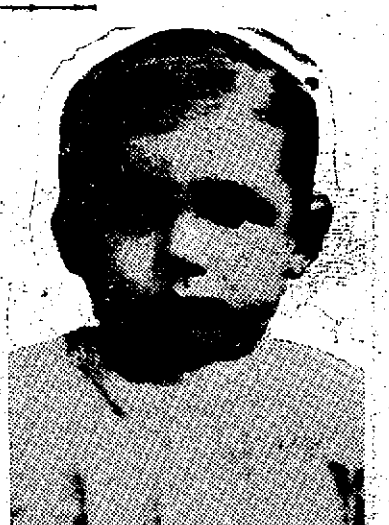

To Make it Healthy and Keep it Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-remedy very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It does not hide behind the name of a fruit or a vegetable, and yet it is genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among their reliable people like Mrs. Jennie Manuel, mother of Master Manuel, Altoona, Ill., and Mrs. H. H. Hietter, Peoria, Ill. They keep it constantly in the house for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of

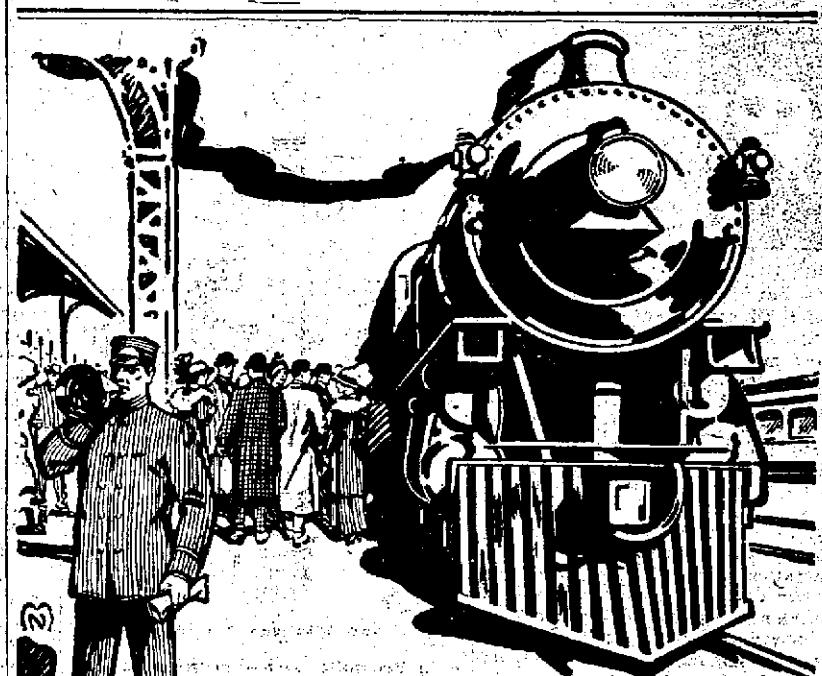

MASTER MANUEL.

Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salt waters, pills and other harsh remedies, for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Looking Backward.
Even those among us who are comparatively young can remember when only one or two of the railroads had fourth vice-presidents.

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to house-keeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BENJ. H. STANSBERRY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

Worth of Clothes.
The influence of clothes must continue to be, as it has been from the beginning of history, either "sacred or profane," a foremost factor in those forces by which man's destiny is guided. His health and comfort, aims and purposes, social standing and business prosperity; everything indeed that makes his life worth living may be affected by it in directions never dreamed of by the tailor who, if he does not actually make the man, is largely instrumental in making him what he is.—Sartorial Art Journal.

Tells Consumptives How He Got Well

Tuberculosis is said to be curable by simply living in the open air and taking an abundance of fresh eggs and milk. Undoubtedly, some persons are benefited in this way; but the appropriate remedy for Consumptives is Eckman's Alternative. It not only adds to strength and increases weight, but it cleanses, nourishes food, and breathes the cleanest and purest air. It is the sensible thing to do right living, and the tonic and beneficial effects of Eckman's Alternative. Read what it did in this case:
405 E. 5th Street, Wilmington, Del.
"Gentlemen: In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, one of the leading practitioners, said that it was lung trouble. I took eggs and milk in quantities, but I got very weak. The doctors said I would not gain in weight as long as I stayed in the store; but I kept on working and prayed each day that I might see well. I believe my prayers were answered, for Mr. C. A. Lippincott, my employer (Lippincott & Co., Department Store, 306 to 314 North Street, Wilmington, Del.), and friend of a remedy called Eckman's Alternative that had done great good, and upon his recommendation I began taking it at once. This was about June, 1908. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alternative saved my life. I sent my wife later to the State Board of Health to be examined for tuberculosis, and none were found. My mother died from Consumption when I was about two years old.
"I make this statement so that others may learn of the wonderful merits of Eckman's Alternative. I regard my recovery as being miraculous."
—JAS. SQUIRES.
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in subduing the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. with his dolls, and—but with her Ladyship's permission—"awkwardly turning to the Governor's daughter, "I will explain."

To this the girl, however, made no answer; as if fascinated, watched them, the commandant, her father, the still, white figure at one side—not far away!

"I think," the Governor spoke softly, "you will do that, anyway!"

"Exactly, your Excellency! It happened in this wise," and not without evidence of constraint and hesitation, the officer slowly related the story of the disturbances on the platform, the taking into custody of the rogues and knaves, and my lady's interest in the vagabond clown whose play had occasioned the riot.

"Because it was seditious, designed to set authority at naught!" interrupted the listener, grimly eyeing for an instant the motionless form of the mountebank.

"On the contrary, your Excellency!" quickly, "Her Ladyship assured me it was the loyal and faithful sentiments of the play that caused the unruly rascals to make trouble, and that the clown deserved no punishment, because he had intended no mischief."

"Her Ladyship?" The Governor's brows went suddenly up. "How," he asked at length in a voice yet softer, "should her Ladyship have known about the loyal and faithful sentiments of a piece given in the town, before a crowd of brawlers?"

"Because I was a spectator!" said his daughter, a red spot now on her cheek; changing lights in her eyes.

"A spectator?" repeated, in mild surprise, the Governor.

"I will explain—after!" she added in tones, low, constrained.

"Hum!" His Excellency's glance swept to the commandant.

"Her Ladyship was so good," murmured the latter in some embarrassment and yet feeling obliged to speak, with that bright insistent gaze of the high official of the Mount fastened upon him, "as to inform me that, desiring to mingle with the people, and knowing it might not be expedient to do so—in her own proper character—her Ladyship saw fit to assume a humble costume—that of a Norman peasant maid."

From the Governor's lips fell an ejaculation; he seemed about to speak sternly, but the words failed on his lips; instead, "Continue!" he said curtly.

"That, I believe, is all, your Excellency, except that her ladyship expressed the desire the stupid fellow be set at liberty on the morrow, as not worth the keeping—"

The mountebank started, as expecting now the Lady Elise to speak; to denounce him, perhaps; but it was his Excellency who interrupted.

"You were going to do so? To set him at liberty?"

"I, your Excellency? The upholders

des voleurs is so full of the scum of the sands, there is hardly room for them to squirm; but if your Excellency wishes all these paltry ragamuffins and beggars brought before you—"

"Well, well!" The Governor looked down; his hand crushed impatiently the paper he held. "Here is much ado about nothing! Have you," to his daughter, "ought to add?"

She lifted her head. Standing in a careless pose, apparently regardless of what was taking place, the mountebank, at the Governor's question, shot a quick glance from him to her. Although but an instant his look met my lady's, in that brief interval she read all that was lost on the other two; the sudden, desperate purpose, the indubitable intention, his warning glance conveyed. At the same time she noticed, or fancied she did, the hand thrust into his breast, as if grasping some weapon, concealed there, drew out a little, while simultaneously, lending emphasis to the fact, he moved a shade nearer the Governor, her father!

"Nothing," said the girl hastily; "nothing!"

"Then," his Excellency waved a thin, aristocratic hand, "take him away!"

"And your—her ladyship's instructions," murmured the commandant.

"Are to be obeyed, of course!" answered the Governor, complacently regarding his letter.

"You hear, fool?" said in a low voice the commandant, as he approached the clown. "Thank his Excellency! Don't you know enough? Clod! Dolt!"

But the man made at first no effort to obey; immovable as a statue, seemed not to see the speaker, and once more, the officer half whispered his injunction.

"Eh?" the Governor turned.

"I thank your Excellency! Your Excellency is most kind!" said the mountebank in a loud, emphatic tone. "And her ladyship?" prompted the officer.

The clown looked at the girl; her breath came fast through her parted lips.

"Speak, fool! To her ladyship you also owe much."

"Much!" repeated the clown, a spark in the dull gaze still fastened upon her.

"Is that all you can say?"

"Take him away!" My lady spoke almost wildly.

"Yes; take him away!" With a querulous gesture his Excellency put an end to the matter. "Am I to be interrupted in important affairs by every miserable farceur, or buffoon, you pick up on the beach? To the devil with the fellow!"

When the door had closed on the mountebank and the commandant, he turned to his daughter. "A madcap trick!" Frowningly his Excellency regarded her. "To have gone into the town, and mingled with the rabble! But," shaking his head and then suffering that expression of disapproval to relax into severity, "say no more about it! Here," indicating the letter, "is something of greater moment, to be attended to and answered!"

CHAPTER XX.

The Mountebank and the Soldier.

As the mountebank walked out of the apartment of the Governor's daughter, he drew himself up with an air of expectancy, like a man preparing for some sudden climax. Once beyond the threshold, his eyes glanced rurtively back at the closed door, and, descending the stairs to the floor below, he carried his head a little forward, as if intent to catch unwonted sound or outcry. But no raised voice or unusual noise reached his ear, and his footsteps, as the party issued forth into the street, responded briskly to the soldiers' pace. Still with the same air of strained attention, now mingled with a trace of perplexity, he followed his guard until called upon to stop.

"You are to sleep here!" As he spoke, the commandant opened the door of what seemed a low out-building, not very far from the general barracks, and motioned the mountebank to enter. The latter, after glancing quickly at the speaker and the soldiers behind, bent to step across the dark threshold, and, still stooping, on account of the low roof, looked around him. By the faint glimmer of light from a lantern one of the soldiers held, the few details of that squalid place were indistinctly revealed: A single stall whose long-eared occupant turned its head inquiringly at the abrupt appearance of a companion lodger; bits of harness and a number of traps hanging from pegs on the wall, and, near the door, on the ground, a bundle of grass, rough fodder from the marshes close by the shore. This last, salt-smelling heap, the officer, peering in with a fastidious sniff, indicated.

"That's your bed! A softer one than you would have had but for the Lady Elise!"

The prisoner returned no answer, and in the voice of a man whose humor was not of the best, the commandant uttered a brief command. "A moment or two the light continued to pass fitfully about the stable; then it and the moving shadows vanished; a key grated in the door, and the sound of the officer's receding footsteps was followed by the diminishing clatter of men's heels on the flagging stone. Not until both had fairly died away in the distance and the silence was broken only by certain indications of restlessness from the stall, did the prisoner move.

First, to the door, which he tried and shook; then, avoiding the pile of fodder, to the wall, where, feeling about the rough masonry with the energy of one who knew he had no time to spare, his hands, ere long, encountered the frame of a small window. Any gratification, however, he might have experienced thereat found its offset in the subsequent discovery that the window had heavy iron blinds, closed and fastened, and was further guarded by a single strong bar set in the middle, dividing the one considerable aperture into two spaces of impassable dimensions. But as if spurred by obstacles to greater exertions, fiercely the man grasped the metallic barrier, braced himself, and put forth his strength. In its setting of old masonry, the rod moved slightly; then more and more, and the prisoner, breathing a moment hard, girded himself anew. A wrench, a tug, and the bar, partly disintegrated, snapped in the middle, and holding the pieces, the prisoner fell somewhat violently back. Armed now with an implement that well might serve as a lever, he, nevertheless, paused before endeavoring to force the formidable fastenings of the blinds; paused to tear off the tight-fitting clown's cap; to doff the costume of the mountebank covering the rough, dark garments beneath, and vigorously to rub his face with some mixture he took from his pocket. He had made but a few pauses to remove the distinguishing marks of paint and pigment, when a sound without, in the distance, caused him to desist.

Footsteps, that grew louder, were coming his way, and, gripping his bar tighter the prisoner grimly waited; but soon his grasp relaxed. The sound was that of a single person, who now paused before the entrance, fumbled at the lock, and, with an impatient exclamation, set something down. At the same time the prisoner dropped his weapon, and stooped for the discarded garments; in the dark, they escaped him and he was still searching.

when the bolt, springing sharply back, caused him to straighten.

"Are you there, Monsieur Mountebank?" The door swung open; an uncertain light cast sickly rays once more within, and beneath the lantern, raised above his head, innocent of the danger he had just escaped, the round visage of the good-natured soldier who had escorted the mountebank to the auberge des voleurs looked amicably and inquiringly into the darkness of the hovel.

"Yes; what do you want?" the answer came more curt than courteous.

"What do I want?" the fellow repeated, with a broad smile. "Now that's good! Perhaps it would be more to the point to ask what do you want? And here," indicating a loaf and jug in his hand, "I've got them, though why the commandant should have cared, and ordered them brought—"

"He did?" said the prisoner, with a flash of quick surprise. "Well, I'm not hungry, but you can leave them."

"Not hungry?" And the soldier, who seemed a little the worse for liquor, but more friendly in consequence, walked in. "I don't wonder, though," he went on, closing the door, hanging his lantern above and placing the jug on the ground; "in such a foul hole! What you need, comrade, is company, and," touching significantly his breast, "something warmer than flows from the spring of St. Aubert."

"I tell you," began the mountebank, when the soldier, staring, got a fair look at the other for the first time and started back.

"Eh? What's this?"

Actual Relief Is Assured for Rheumatism Sciatica and Neuritis

If you could spend a half day in our store and hear the words of thanks—the timely expressions of gratitude from people who have not been free from pain before for years, you would understand our enthusiasm and our earnest desire that every sufferer within reach should learn of this new prescription, "Nurito."

It is not a patent medicine, and it does not contain the slightest trace of narcotics or opiates. A physician of extensive practice in New York is responsible for this purely ethical prescription. His brother physicians have taken up the use of it and its fame has extended until it reaches from coast to coast.

"Nurito" has done so much in relieving cases of the longest standing—cases which other remedies have been unable to relieve—completely banishing the uric acid from the system and thus removing the cause of all rheumatic diseases, that it sounds too good to be true.

But it is true. We will show you proof backed by affidavits—testimonials from people who have been free of ever being cured. We want those sufferers who have well-nigh given up hope to call, telephone or write us for "Nurito." We give you positive assurance that you will secure complete relief by its use. A $1 box will convince you.

"Nurito"—a clean, legitimate prescription, measures the greatest progress ever made in fighting the terrible suffering of rheumatic diseases. In fairness to yourself, try it. Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron Bldg., N. Y. For sale by

Oh, How I Itched!

What long nerve-racking days of constant torture—what sleepless nights of terrible agony—itch-itch-itch, constant itch, until it seemed that I must tear off my very skin—then—

Instant relief—my skin cooled, soothed and healed.

The very first drops of D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema stopped that awful itch instantly; yes, the very moment D.D.D. touched the burning skin the torture ceased. A 25c bottle proves it.

D.D.D. has been known for years as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

All other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—so to them it can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Nov. 5, 1872.—The Election: Election progresses quietly today, though there is an evident determination on both sides to bring out the full vote. Up to three o'clock this afternoon each ward had polled the following number of votes:

First Ward	411
Second Ward	387
Third Ward	209
Fourth Ward	399
Fifth Ward	129
Total	1216

In 1868 the total vote of the city was 1632. Many of our voters are at work in Chicago this fall, so it is probable that the total vote will fall short of that cast four years ago. The banks, the city schools and the saloons have been closed today. The new state law gives this privilege.

The Clifford Troop: The presentation of "Married Life" and "Handy Andy" by the Clifford theatrical troupe at the opera house last night was a complete success. Dillon, the same old Dillon and that is saying volumes in his praise. As Mr. Doyle, the persecuted husband, he presented the combination of ludicrousness and despair which in the character of "collicking" Handy Andy he was simply giving vent to the abundance of native Irish wit in him. Tonight the comedies of "Sweethearts and Wives" and "His Last Legs" will be presented.

Reports from all parts of the country indicate that the election is progressing quietly with Grant leading by a considerable majority over Greeley. In New York business for the most part was suspended.

BY WALT MASON

Oh, this fact will bear repeating, that unless you're fond of eating, everything will seem discordant in this world that we inhabit; if your appetite is slender life will have no joy or splendor, and you'll think this republic is skedaddling galley west. Brooding prophets, gloomy Daniels, say we're going to the spawls, government is all corrupted and we're headed for the dump; but if they were only able to get busy at the table, things would seem far more attractive, and their gloom would take a slump. Nearly all man's earthly troubles would be advanced, in a twinkling, could a little people eat with gusto, morns and evens.

and sunny noons; could they shovel in their centers beet and beans and boiled potatoes, succorash and ham and spinach, macaroni, pies and prunes. They could not be drawn with horses to the courts to get divorces if their appetites were working in the good old-fashioned way; they would find this life less hollow if they had desire to swallow buckwheat cakes and eggs and doughnuts, scrambled rice and shredded hay. Life should be and is a blessing, and the walls and sighs distressing come from folks with balky stomachs, though they oft misplace the blame. Learn to eat with frezied and take a full out of the larder, and you'll soon be quite enamored with this cheerful human game.
